Talk about game:

I felt good. First game at AT&T Stadium went well. I was excited. I felt the nerves this week – maybe it was AT&T Stadium or whatever it was – very good night.

Talk about TD pass to Dez. Nice to have WR like him?

It's great. They give Dez one-on-one I'll continue to say it – I'm going to take him against anyone in the league. He's great at making plays.

Talk about first TD run:

They were in a defense to give me that opportunity. They gave me a little pressure, got out of the pocket, I pumped to keep the defenders on their man and then had an open lane.

Did you feel pressure to repeat the performance vs. LA?

My mind says to come into each and every game to do the best I can during the week, so I can come out on game day loose and just have fun.

Is it easier than you've expected?

I don't think easy's the right word honestly. I work on just picking throughout the week. I've got great veterans, great coaches who are putting me in great positions to have success out on the field and I'm thankful for that. But there's a lot of hard work that goes into this.

You have a perfect QB rating. Believe that?

Nah, I mean I don't really pay attention to that. I just come in and try to work. But that's pretty cool I guess.

With each passing game, the Jones' sound more comfy with you as backup QB. How far along in your mind are you?

That's for them to decide. I'm just going to come in each and every day as I've continued to say. I'll be the best person I can be, the best quarterback I can be.

How ready do you think you are?

I feel great. I'm very confident in myself. That hasn't changed from the moment I was drafted until now.

A bunch of people came to see you tonight. Feel good to do this in front of old faces?

Definitely feels good having a performance like this any time, and definitely in the first game at AT&T Stadium knowing you've got some old friends there.

Dez called you a student of the game. How much have you learned in last year?

I've learned a lot. I've got to give credit to my coaches, every single one of them. Tony Romo, and all of the guys, all of the receivers, Dez, Jason, just asking and teaching and trying to be a sponge and absorb all of it.

In last 10 days or 2 weeks of camp, have you seen growth?

I've been fortunate to get more opportunities. I think that's just where it comes. The more reps I get, the better I feel I'm going to be.

Do you expect the best for yourself?

I have high expectations for myself. You never think you're going to come in and have a QB rating like this, but you try your damndest to do that and I'm going to continue to do that each day.

Jerry said your transition under center had questions and you've handled it well. Talk about transition to under center.

I feel like I'm an athletic guy. I've got great coaches in coach Garrett, coach Wilson, coach Linehan teaching me to get out from under center faster and into a position to throw to. I accepted it.

What is the crazy maturity come from at such a young age?

Maybe some things I've been through in my life. I love this game most importantly, so I just came in here and put in the work throughout the week so I can just go have fun and feel like a kid again when I get on the field.

Were you trying to show us that athleticism on that throw on the sidelines?

Yeah I wish that we could have scored a touchdown there. That would have been cool.
